Their excuse for deserting was that they did not wish to fight Russia. ## CASE OF WELLS IS CAUSE OF COMMENT

ENGLISHMAN BY BIRTH CONSCRIPTED INTO THE GERMAN ARMY

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Nov. 22.—The English newspapers are aroused over the case of Dr. W. H. Wells, a former lecturer in the University of Munich, who has been conscripted for service in the German army. Dr. Wells is a graduate of Oxford and an Englishman by birth, but it appears that under the German law he accepted "complimentary" German citizenship when he accepted in 1909 a pension from the University of Munich. He is 38 years old.

English friends of Dr. Wells describe him as thoroughly British in sympathies and feelings. It is stated that German consular officials informed him in 1909 that his acceptance to the pension would make no difference to his status as a British citizen. When the war broke out he planned to return to England but was dissuaded by colleagues into remaining at his post.

PLANS FOR CELEBRATION WILL BE CURTAILED

HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE FOUNDING OF ARGENTINE REPUBLIC

(By Associated Press.)
BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 22.—Plans for the elaborate celebration next July of the 100th anniversary of the establishment of the Argentine Republic have been largely curtailed because of the world-crisis now prevailing, and it has even been suggested that the celebration be postponed for several years unless there is early relief from the general trade depression. Congress has cut down considerably the sum of money which was deemed necessary to carry out the original plans, so there is little likelihood that the big centenary of the constitution will be observed on such an elaborate scale as was the centenary of the War of Independence, which was celebrated in May, 1910.

Although a gradual recovery in trade and commerce generally is noticed, and the prospects for the coming year are favorable, there is widespread protest against drawing heavily from the national exchequer for any patriotic celebration at this time.
